introduce ABOUT ME

I'm a professional digital marketer and social media manager based in Dhaka, Bangladesh, worked in China for 6 years and now working from Bangladesh.. I have worked with several brands in fine-tuning their SEO, boosting their social media presence, and developing their overall content strategy.

Ever since I was little, I've always been the storyteller of the family & myself. Talking non-stop. Words, stories, lyrics and the impact they had on people fascinated me. When I was 15, my family got tired of my constant blabbering, recounting ordinary happenings in creative ways.

They decided to buy me a journal and convince me to give it a try. Thinking maybe I'll run out of words to say if I wrote them all down. Well, that didn't work out, I still kept on talking. But fell in love with writing along the way.

To tell about the creative process, which I adopted to build INFANSY'S strong social media reputation and International website, step by step strategy helped me and I planned for success. Boss was directly involved into sketching the whole thing, so I had the flexibility and freedom to focus on the company's demand, social reputation, e-commerce website presence and last but not the least internet celebrity collaboration with a lot of achievements in developing the brand identity internationally, working from home.

I liked their concept of developing premature baby's clothing series and very clear goal sets, every week and every month I used to report the progress on social reputation, traffic & growth.

celebrityCOLLABORATION

At INFANSY’S one of my major work was to collect and list down internet celebrities on a daily basis depending on the profile metrics and location, in this process I had collected 1000+ celebrities who really wanted to collaborate with INFANSY’S. Above picture is an example of a free collaboration of a US based macro level Internet Celebrity.

The overall guidance for having the best and traffic driven content was very interesting and I felt happy finally after seeing the post drafts that was done so nicely, I modified and all those came into implementation. Tracking the shipment and keeping an eye on the shipped products was also my duty.

As usual, I got to generate new fans based on this internet celebrity and it was nicely happen to see some of them active on the web store of shopify designed and operated by me which redirects to newborn clothing of 0-6 months. Our primary thought was to reach audience persona of having 0-6 months newborn parents specially mothers.

When it comes to write daily social media contents about caferacer's riding gears, it was creative and challenging to draw attention. I used to analyse competitors posts from oldest to the running ones, then with my supervisors mind mapping I created the mind blowing combination of regular posts.

Before writing and posting I planned always like this is my own brand to formulate the tarffic.I took two weeks to summarize ideas into action, scheduled the post plans and did #tag analysis based on competing keywords.

I created viral contests, giveaways & competitions, landing pages and engaging forms such us surveys and quizzes. Generate engagements, increased traffic, mindmapped and implemented the followers.

Initially the target was to collaborate with eight internet celebrities, so I listed down everyday based on their previous performance of social media activities, then we put on the process of communication, choice and shipping.

I am good in negotiations and I got those influencers in exchange of free products and guided them the brand's demand, aspects of collaboration, raising issues to get public votes like the picture can be seen with links in the right side.

The cool fact is they gave more photos and reels and the website got more affiliate marketers which results into conversion from the collaboration process, which was fruitful enough.
